

Gabriel Kelly Academic Reference

Gabriel graduated from our BSc Digital Games Development course in the summer of 2023, with a high first.

I taught him 3d Modelling and Animation throughout the three years of the degree. I found him to be a particularly bright student who is very personable and driven to succeed, the grades he attained in my level 6 advanced modelling module were the highest in that year, recording 82% overall in the assessment for the module. His attendance was also excellent. I found him to be confident, outgoing, technically skilled, as well as creative. He is capable of working well within a team, has demonstrated great organisational skills as well as good critical thinking and research abilities.

Aside from his studies, I believe he was an active member of the gaming societies here at Brighton and took part in several successful games jams and other events over the years of his course. He is well liked by his fellow students and I am sure he will do very well in his chosen course and wider career.

In conclusion, I would be very happy to recommend Gabriel for this academic program. If his performance in my class is any indication of future success, Gabriel's outcomes will be positive as will his contribution to the program.
